Scope and Content

The collection documents the personal activities of David Edward Finley, lawyer, close associate of Andrew W. Mellon, and the first director of the National Gallery of Art. At the time of Finley's death in 1977, in the absence of an archival program at the National Gallery of Art, his official director's papers were given to the Library of Congress. Some papers, however, remained in the custody of Finley's family, and this group of materials was eventually donated to the National Gallery. Of interest are materials marked "not for Library of Congress" which suggest that Finley sorted his papers before he died. He may have considered some papers too private or sensitive in nature to send to the Library of Congress and therefore left them with his family.

The materials in the collection span the period about 1910 to the months shortly after his death. They consist of personal and professional letters, speeches, articles, diaries, documents with biographical information, and personal miscellanea. The files also include many clippings from major Washington, DC and New York newspapers, and local publications, such as The State from Columbia, South Carolina. Obituaries of Finley's friends, family, and associates as well as articles about important global events or significant news relating specifically to the museum community are included among the clippings.

While the collection is primarily personal in nature, much of it pertains to the National Gallery of Art. There are drawings and plans for the construction of the building, and written accounts of Andrew Mellon's conversations and activities. Of interest are materials that document the development of Finley's book and the founding of the National Gallery, A Standard of Excellence: Andrew W. Mellon Founds the National Gallery of Art at Washington, D.C. The collection also contains many speeches and articles written by Finley during his tenure at the Gallery.

Series Descriptions

Note: Any gaps in numbering are intentional.

Series 1 Personal Correspondence, 1925-1976 [boxes 1-22, 70]
Arranged alphabetically by name of correspondent. By far the largest group of files, this series contains letters received and written by David Finley, as well as newspaper clippings and his written accounts of conversations with and reflections on some of his correspondents. Some letters, especially those from Bernard Berenson, were transcribed for easier legibility.

Series 2 Subject Files, 1921-1976 [boxes 23-36, 70]
Arranged alphabetically by subject. This series consists primarily of David Finley's professional letters and related materials. Significant among these papers are his files on Andrew W. Mellon, especially those labeled "Reminiscences and Recollections," which include Finley's accounts of his conversations and meetings with Mellon and other individuals.

The series also contains information on Finley's travels, the societies to which he belonged, and Oatlands, his wife's family estate in Leesburg, Virginia. Files on art museums, such as the Metropolitan Museum of Fine Art, the Whitney Museum of American Art in New York, the Museum of Fine Arts in Boston, and the Fogg Art Museum of Harvard University in Cambridge, Massachusetts are also included in this series.

Series 3 Chronological Files, 1956-1977 [boxes 37-39]
Arranged chronologically. This series consists of David Finley's outgoing general correspondence from the time of his retirement as Director of the National Gallery of Art in 1956 until his death in 1977. These files often duplicate outgoing letters found in Series 1 Personal Correspondence.

Series 4 Writings, 1942-1970 [boxes 40-44]
Arranged by genre and thereunder alphabetically or chronologically. This series consists of articles, speeches and books written by David Finley and his reference materials. As director of the National Gallery of Art, Finley wrote numerous articles. Included are copies of published and unpublished articles on topics ranging from museums and fine arts in general, and the National Gallery specifically, to public works and unemployment. Included are copies of full-length speeches, brief remarks, and assorted interviews and statements for radio and television broadcasts on various topics.

This series has files documenting Finley's two book projects, A Standard of Excellence (originally titled "Andrew Mellon and the National Gallery of Art") and The War Letters of Morton Eustis. Information on Mellon that Finley collected for A Standard of Excellence is included in Series 2 Subject Files under "Andrew Mellon – Reminiscences and Recollections." The War Letters of Morton Eustis is a collection of letters written by Finley's brother-in-law, Morton Eustis, to his mother before he died in action during World War II.

There are also reference materials used by Finley. These items are grouped by four topics: Department of Treasury, fine arts, other museums and exhibitions, and the National Trust for Historic Preservation. Of note is Julius Rosenwald's Principles of Public Giving.

Series 5 Biographical Information, 1914-1977 [boxes 45-46]
Arranged alphabetically. This series contains biographical information about David Finley and his family. Included are copies of articles about Finley (such as Who's Who entries) and his wife, Margaret Eustis Finley, as well as genealogical information about the Finley and Gist (Finley's mother's) families. Materials on other Finley and Gist family members can be found in Series 2 Subject Files. Three of Finley's personal diaries and Mrs. Finley's engagement book while they were in England also are included. Of interest is a condolence letter from Jacqueline Kennedy Onassis to Mrs. Finley upon hearing the news of Finley's death.

Series 6 Retirement Files, 1955-1956 [box 47]
Arranged chronologically. This series consists of materials relating to David Finley's retirement from the National Gallery of Art in 1956. Included are correspondence, newspaper articles, press release, and notes.

Series 7 Honors Conferred Files, 1943-1974 [boxes 48-49]
Arranged alphabetically by granting institution or award name. This series documents awards, honors, and medals received by David Finley. Materials include diplomas and certificates. Acceptance speeches for many of these awards can be found in Series 4 Writings.

Series 8 Memorabilia, 1910-1971 [boxes 50-51, 70]
This series consists of memorabilia saved by David Finley, including dried flowers, postcards, maps, reproductions of works of art, two pens used by Andrew Mellon, and other personal items.

Series 9-10 Photographs and Graphics, circa 1890-1976 [boxes 52-58, 71-74]
Arranged alphabetically by subject. This series consists of photographs of David Finley and his friends, family, and business associates, as well as images of works of arts and of events, such as exhibition openings and award ceremonies. There are also formal studio photographs and drawings given to Finley by friends and associates, such as Bernard Berenson, Chester Dale, Rush Kress, Samuel H. Kress, Ogden Mills and Lessing Rosenwald. Several photographs of Andrew Mellon are also included. The subjects of the portraits sometimes signed the photographs. Whenever possible, the name of the photographer is noted. Please note that there are other photographs located within folders in other series. For conservation purposes, negatives are stored separately from photograph prints. Select photographs in this series have been digitized and are available to researchers.

Series 12-13, 18-19 Motion Picture Films, circa 1927-1935 [boxes 59, 76-77, and film canisters]
This series contains twenty-nine home movie reels documenting several events during Finley's life. Of special interest are films relating to Andrew Mellon. Series 14 Audio Recordings, 1941-1955 [box 64]
This series consists of a recorded interview with David Finley about the 1955 National Gallery of Art exhibition, Goya Drawings and Prints, and a recording of the Gallery's 1941 dedication. The dedication recording has been digitized and is available to researchers.
