The Musicians

The Joseph and Goldie Feder Memorial String Competition

For students who study violin, viola, cello, or bass, this Washington Performing Arts competition helps young musicians develop confidence and focus as they compete before professional judges. Winners receive monetary prizes and awards for private lessons and tuition support for summer and precollege music programs. Washington Performing Arts provides the winners opportunities to perform in a variety of venues and offers an instrument loan program to assist those in need. Performances by winners of the Joseph and Goldie Feder Memorial String Competition are made possible by the generous support of Jacqueline Badger Mars and Mars, Incorporated.

The Misbin Family Memorial Chamber Music Competition

Presented in partnership by Levine Music and Washington Performing Arts, the Misbin Family Memorial Chamber Music Competition is open to instrumental chamber music students, adult amateurs, and professional musicians. Winners receive cash awards and opportunities to perform in prestigious venues across the Washington, DC, metro region. The competition is made possible by the generous support of Dr. Robert Misbin. Performances by winners of the Misbin Family Memorial Chamber Music Competition are made possible by the generous support of Jacqueline Badger Mars and Mars, Incorporated.

Washington Performing Arts

Since 1965, Washington Performing Arts has had a foundational role in the arts in our nation's capital, creating profound opportunities that connect community and artists, in both education and performance. Through live events in eleven venues in the Washington metropolitan area, the careers of emerging artists are launched and nurtured, and established artists return to develop closer relationships with Washington Performing Arts audiences and creative partners. As one of the leading presenters in the nation, Washington Performing Arts embraces a broad spectrum of the performing arts, including classical music, jazz, gospel, contemporary dance, international music and art forms, and new works. Dynamic education programs in the public schools and beyond are hallmarks of Washington Performing Arts, as are the organization's Embassy Adoption Program and two resident gospel choirs.

Levine Music

Founded in 1976 in memory of Selma M. Levine, a prominent Washington attorney and an amateur pianist, Levine Music has grown into the region's preeminent center for music education and one of the country's leading community music schools. Through its efforts, children and adults develop collaborative skills and find lifelong inspiration and joy through learning, performing, and listening to music.
