FOR IMMEDIATE RELEASE

WASHINGTON, D.C. October 19, 1965. The National Gallery of Art will observe its twenty-fifth anniversary in March with an exhibition of paintings from the collections of Mr. and Mrs. Paul Mellon and Mrs. Mellon Bruce. Mr. Mellon and Mrs. Bruce are the son and daughter of the founder, Andrew Mellon.

More than 100 French paintings from the early 19th century to the early 20th century will be shown.

A number of the Impressionist and Post-Impressionist paintings have never been exhibited to the public before, including works by Manet, Degas, Cézanne, and van Gogh.

The dates for the twenty-fifth anniversary exhibition are March 17 through May 1, 1966.
