NATIONAL GALLERY ANNOUNCES STAFF APPOINTMENT OF NEW DEPUTY ADMINISTRATOR

WASHINGTON, D.C. J. Carter Brown, Director of the National Gallery of Art, has announced the new staff appointment of Joseph G. English, formerly with the U.S. Bureau of the Budget, to the post of Deputy Administrator for the Gallery, effective February 1.

In this administrative position, Mr. English will assist the Administrator in carrying forward the day-to-day operating functions of the Gallery.

Mr. English, who is 32 years old, entered Government service with the Bureau of the Budget in 1963. Prior to that, he had served as a staff assistant for special projects with the Polaroid Corporation, Cambridge, Massachusetts. He has also served with the United States Army.

Mr. English was graduated from Harvard in 1958 with a degree in economics. He is the son of Robert English, presently a New Hampshire state senator, and the grandson of the late Honorable Joseph C. Grew, Ambassador to Japan at the outbreak of World War II. Mr. English is married and has two sons.
