NATIONAL GALLERY OF ART HIGHLIGHTS ARTISTIC EXCHANGE BETWEEN EUROPE AND THE ISLAMIC WORLD IN CONJUNCTION WITH OPENING OF ISLAMIC ART EXHIBITION

Washington, DC--A touring exhibition of more than 100 works from one of the most renowned Islamic art collections in the world premieres at the National Gallery of Art, Washington, from July 18, 2004, through February 6, 2005. In conjunction with the opening of Palace and Mosque: Islamic Art from the Victoria and Albert Museum, the Gallery will launch a special project, "Artistic Exchange: Europe and the Islamic World." Selected masterpieces in the permanent collection highlight the gift-giving, trade, travel, collecting, and patronage that fostered cross-cultural artistic interchange. A printed brochure and map will guide Gallery visitors to these objects identified by special labels (available August 1). The Gallery's Web site will offer an online exhibition by July 13 at www.nga.gov/exhibitions/2004/artexchange/artexchange\_ss.shtm (http://www.nga.gov/exhibitions/2004/artexchange/artexchange\_ss.shtm).

"Artistic Exchange: Europe and the Islamic World" was inspired by the book, Bazaar to Piazza: Islamic Trade and Italian Art, 1300-1600, by noted scholar Rosamond Mack, who has been a consultant to the Gallery for this project. Mack will give a lecture about the artistic interchange among these three great cultural spheres, Arts of Splendor: Islamic Luxury Goods in Renaissance Italy, on October 31, 2004, at 2:00 p.m. in the East Building auditorium.

Several of the Gallery's masterpieces reveal evidence of this artistic exchange, such as Giotto's Madonna and Child (1320/1330), Giovanni Bellini's and Titian's Feast of the Gods (1514/1529), and 16th-century French ceramics. In addition, one of the Gallery's greatest Persian carpets will be on view on the main floor of the West Building.

In the fall, specialists in Islamic, Byzantine, and European medieval and Renaissance art will present illustrated lectures on the masterworks in the exhibition and in the Gallery's permanent collection. Artistic Exchange on the Mediterranean Rim: Islamic, Byzantine and European Art, Part I, will be held October 3, 2004, 2-5 p.m., and Artistic Exchange on the Mediterranean Rim: Islamic, Byzantine and European Art, Part II, will be held on November 20, 2004, 2-5 p.m., both in the East Building Auditorium.

THE EXHIBITION

Selected from a superb collection of more than 10,000 objects, Palace and Mosque: Islamic Art from the Victoria and Albert Museum will convey the richness of the Islamic art of the Middle East on a scale and at a level of quality hard to find in any collection outside the region. The exhibition will include examples of the full range of the decorative arts—ceramics, textiles, carpets, metalwork, glass, woodwork, and treats the Islamic art of the Middle East as the product of a culture in which not everyone was Muslim but in which Islam played a dominant role.

Organized by the Victoria and Albert Museum (V&A), London, in association with the National Gallery of Art, Washington, the exhibition is taking place while a new gallery for art of the Islamic Middle East is under development at the V&A. The exhibition will also travel to the Kimbell Art Museum, Fort Worth, Texas (April 3-September 4, 2005); the Setagaya Art Museum, Tokyo, Japan (October 22-December 11, 2005); and the Millennium Galleries, Sheffield, England (January 14-April 16, 2006).
