Summer Brings Films for Children and Teens, Stories in Art, and More Family-Friendly Programming to the National Gallery of Art

The National Gallery of Art welcomes the summer season with a variety of programs for children and young adults, including its popular Film Program for Children and Teens in July and August. Admission is free of charge.

The Film Program presents domestic and foreign films from countries such as France, Germany, and Hungary in an array of different genres including animation, live action, and classics. This summer, join some fine feathered friends on their animated adventures in Sweet Tweets, a film series about birds, and enjoy a modern-day fable about two brothers, in love with the same fairy, in Azur and Asmar.

These innovative films enhance enjoyment of the Gallery's collections and exhibitions and foster an understanding of film as an art form. The Film Program represents a broad range of recently produced films, specially selected for their appeal to youth and adult audiences. Age recommendations are intended to guide parents in selecting emotionally and intellectually stimulating films for their children.
The Gallery also offers families a variety of ways to explore the collection together. The art-focused storytelling program Stories in Art—designed for children ages four to seven and their adult companions—returns this summer with a series highlighting Dutch masterpieces on view in the galleries. Families may also explore the galleries together using the children's audio and video tour, which highlights masterpieces from the West Building's Main Floor galleries. A children's video tour, now available online, brings kids virtually face-to-face with 50 renowned paintings from the Gallery's West Building.

With an ongoing schedule of family-friendly activities and shopping—including family workshops, special family weekends, storytelling programs, teen studios, exhibition discovery guides, the Children's Shop, the Sculpture Garden, and casual dining in the Cascade Café—the National Gallery of Art offers something for everyone, at every age.

Sweet Tweets

Saturday, July 16, and Wednesday, July 20, 10:30 a.m.
Sunday, July 17, 11:30 a.m.
ages 4 and up
(approximately 55 minutes)

This humorous and gentle program is dedicated to our feathered friends in their infinite variety. Some sing, most fly, and in this collection of animated films from around the world, the avian protagonists have big personalities guaranteed to make you smile.

Azur and Asmar
Saturday, August 6, and Wednesday, August 10, 10:30 a.m.
Sunday, August 7, 11:30 a.m.
ages 6 and up
(Michel Ocelot, France, 2006/2008, 99 minutes)

Celebrated animation master Michel Ocelot delivers an awe-inspiring and exquisitely crafted epic tale in Azur and Asmar. Azur, a nobleman's son, is raised by a nurse alongside her son Asmar. Both boys adore the nurse's whimsical tales of the beautiful Djinn Fairy who, captive within the black mountain, awaits a loving prince. Growing and living together as brothers, Azur and Asmar share the dream of one day marrying the mystical nymph, but it becomes a cause of sibling rivalry. When Azur's father sends him to boarding school and dismisses the nurse and Asmar, the once-inseparable boys doubt they will ever see each other again. Years later, however, Azur and Asmar reunite as competitors, each determined to locate the Djinn Fairy first. Celebrating multiculturalism, loyalty, and honesty, Azur and Asmar is a dazzling modern-day fable for all ages. A treat for the eyes, Ocelot's animation style was influenced by the illuminated manuscripts of medieval France, Persian miniatures, and the Islamic architecture of Spain and North Africa. Stories in Art

This series of programs uses storytelling to introduce children ages four to seven to works of art from the Gallery's collection. Museum educators lead workshops that include reading a children's book, viewing an artwork, and completing a simple hands-on project. The summer series is presented in a four-year cycle—Explore Italy, Discover Dutch Art, Tour de France, and American Adventure—where each topic highlights a different part of the permanent collection.

These free drop-in programs are designed for individual families, and the Gallery cannot accommodate groups. Space is limited to 70 children per session. There is no advance registration; participation is on a first-come, first-served basis. Sign-in for Stories in Art will take place in the West Building Rotunda, beginning at 10:00 a.m. on weekdays and at 11:00 a.m. on Sundays, and will continue until all spaces are filled.

Each program lasts approximately 60 minutes and departs from the East Building Atrium at 10:30 a.m., 11:30 a.m., 12:30 p.m., 1:30 p.m., and 2:30 p.m. on the dates listed below. For information, call (202) 789-3030.

Summer Story Series: Discover Dutch Art

Pack your imagination and travel to the Netherlands this summer at the National Gallery of Art. Visit a windmill, sail the seas, discover mince pie, and join a party. Participants learn about landscapes, still lifes, seascapes, and genre scenes by reading children's books, looking at 17th-century Dutch paintings, and making a souvenir to document each adventure. You will receive a passport to the summer story series and a stamp for each program attended. Collect three or more stamps at the end of the summer and receive a prize!
