Seventy-sixth Season of Free Concerts at the National Gallery of Art Includes Pulitzer Prize-winning Composers, Grammy Award-winning Musicians, World Premiere Staged Readings, Concerts in Honor of Seven Exhibitions, a Symposium and Composer’s Forum, a Brass Quartet, a Concert that Celebrates Women, and Holiday Caroling

Sybarite5 performs on January 28, 2018, at 3:30 p.m., in the West Building, West Garden Court, in celebration of the exhibition Outliers and American Vanguard Art, on view January 28 through May 13, 2018.

Washington, DC—The 76th season of concerts at the National Gallery of Art—September 2017 through May 2018—includes more than 35 free performances by local, national, and international artists. Seven exhibitions—Edvard Munch: Color in Context; Fragonard: The Fantasy Figures; Vermeer and the Masters of Genre Painting: Inspiration and Rivalry; Bosch to Bloemaert: Early Netherlandish Drawings from the Museum Boijmans Van Beuningen, Rotterdam; Outliers and American Vanguard Art; Michel Sittow: Estonian Painter at the Courts of Renaissance Europe; and Cézanne Portraits—are highlighted with concerts in their honor.

In celebration of International Jazz Day, April 29 2018, visitors can enjoy the premiere of a new arrangement of works by the late Duke Ellington adapted for a brass quartet by the Westerlies. Other performances of note include a special concert in celebration of renowned maestro Leonard Bernstein; two staged readings by the New York Opera Society; an examination of the Gullah culture; The Snow Queen—the work that inspired Disney’s Frozen; the evening-length tour de force Timber; a composer and practitioner of the Japanese taiko drum and shinobue bamboo flutes; and a concert of redemption songs and sonatas.

Performances will take place every weekend from September 23, 2017 through May 20, 2018 in various locations throughout the Gallery, including the lush West and East Garden Courts and the grand central Rotunda of the West Building; the state-of-the-art, 500-seat East Building Auditorium with stadium-style seating; and the expansive and light-filled East Building Atrium that displays the largest mobile made by Alexander Calder. Concerts at the National Gallery of Art are open to the public, free of charge. Admittance is on a first-come, first-seated basis 30 minutes before the concert begins. For more information call (202) 842-6941 or visit https://www.nga.gov/calendar/concerts.html.

West Building, West Garden Court
Voices of the Ocean

In Voices of the Ocean, violinist Lina Bahn and cellist Matt Haimovitz collaborate with choreographer Lynn Neuman and her Artichoke Dance Company and poet Melissa Tuckey to celebrate music that promotes awareness of our oceans. At the core of this immersive program of amplified string and electronic sounds stands a reimagined version by Jordan Nelson of the iconic Voice of the Whale by composer George Crumb. Other works include Adam Borecki’s version of Vivaldi’s duo concerto Il Proteo o sia il mondo al rovescio and world premieres by composers Daniel Wohl and Steve Antosca.

Pomerium
Flemish Musical Mastery in the Age of Bosch and Bloemaert
October 29 at 3:30
West Building, West Garden Court
Presented in honor of the exhibition Bosch to Bloemaert: Early Netherlandish Drawings from the Museum Boijmans Van Beuningen, Rotterdam

This program traces Netherlandish musical style from its beginnings in the music of Guillaume Du Fay, an exact contemporary of Rogier van der Weyden, to its final flowering in the works of Orlande de Lassus and Giaches de Wert.
November

Orpheus Chamber Orchestra
November 5 at 3:30
West Building, West Garden Court
Orpheus Chamber Orchestra, with 71 albums and 42 commissioned and premiered original works, is considered by some to be one of the world’s foremost chamber orchestras. This program includes octets by Jean François and Franz Schubert.

The Crossing, with members of ICE
November 12 at 3:30
West Building, West Garden Court
The Crossing, a professional chamber choir conducted by Donald Nally and dedicated to new music, has received many national awards and exemplary critical reviews in such journals as the New York Times ("hypnotic and ethereally beautiful") and the Los Angeles Times ("ardently angelic"). The International Contemporary Ensemble (ICE) is dedicated to reshaping the way music is created and experienced.

Mantra Percussion
November 19 at 3:30
West Building, West Garden Court
Michael Gordon's Timber

Michael Gordon's Timber is an evening-length tour de force—one concert that encompasses the entire evening. Scored for six graduated, amplified wooden simantras, the work brings the physicality, endurance, and technique of percussion performance to a new level. In this work, Gordon shapes the music in both polyrhythmic and dynamic waves of textures—often each player's hands are in separate rhythmic "worlds;" each traversing a different dynamic contour from loud to soft to loud, similar in some respects to his solo composition for percussion, XY.

Living Art Collective Ensemble (LACE)
November 24 and 25 at 2:00 and 4:00
West Building, West Garden Court
Part of a three-day weekend of events in honor of the exhibition Fragonard: The Fantasy Figures

LACE is a collective ensemble of women that aims to bring to life creative women of the past, focusing on lesser-known female composers, performers, artists, and those who influenced them. The group enhances dynamic performances with multimedia and other dramatic devices to give new life to these historic women. One of Fragonard's models for his famous series of portraits was Anne Louise Brillon de Jouy (otherwise known as Madame Brillon), a brilliant musical amateur who hosted a semiweekly Parisian salon in the 1770s and 1780s. In a series of salon-style concerts, the LACE, dressed in period attire, replicates Madame Brillon's salons with music by Boccherini, Mozart, Madame Brillon, and others from the era.

New York Opera Society
The Three Lives of Rosina Almaviva
November 26 at 3:30
West Building, West Garden Court
Presented in honor of the exhibition Fragonard: The Fantasy Figures

A staged reading of works by Pierre-Augustin Caron de Beaumarchais, Gioachino Rossini, Wolfgang Amadeus Mozart, Raquel Barbieri Vidal, and Gisle Kverndokk. Rossini's The Barber of Seville, Mozart's The Marriage of Figaro, and new settings of La mere coupable by Gisle Kverndokk are included in this showcase highlighting the central character Rosina Almaviva from Pierre Augustin Caron de Beaumarchais's Figaro trilogy.

Inna Faliks and Daniel Schlosberg
December 3 at 3:30
West Building, West Garden Court
Gustav Mahler, Symphony No 6 (arrangement by Alexander von Zemlinsky for piano, four-hands)

Ukrainian-born pianist Inna Faliks has established herself as one of the most exciting, committed, communicative, versatile, and poetic artists of her generation. Head of piano and professor of piano at the University of California, Los Angeles, she is equally at home in the great concerti, standard solo repertoire, chamber music, interdisciplinary projects, and work with contemporary composers. Daniel Schlosberg has been described as an "expert pianist" (Boston Globe); his performances have been praised for their "intellect and passion" (Washington Post).

Igor Stravinsky, The Soldier's Tale
Christophe Sturznegger, The Snow Queen

The Soldier's Tale by Igor Stravinsky, which premiered at the Théâtre Municipal de Lausanne, Switzerland, was conceived in the fall of 1917, exactly 100 years ago. Stravinsky, living in the French-speaking part of Switzerland at the time, had reworked a Russian text with the Swiss poet Charles Ferdinand Ramuz. Swiss composer Christophe Sturznegger's The Snow Queen, written in Geneva in 2009, has been performed over 75 times in Switzerland. It is based on the Hans Christian Andersen children's story of the same name. The Disney movie Frozen was also inspired by Andersen's story.

Turtle Island Quartet with Liz Carroll
December 17 at 4:00
West Building, West Garden Court
Winter Eve

The two-time Grammy-winning Turtle Island Quartet joins forces with renowned Irish fiddler and composer Liz Carroll for a joyous concert of effervescent music making. The repertoire evokes visions of a frosty winter's eve and year-end celebrations from around the globe. Ancient King Wren songs of the Celtic winter solstice and yuletide reels from Ireland reside with tunes of Hanukkah, a Hindu spiritual, and a Miles Davis holiday classic.

Holiday Caroling

The Gallery's long-standing tradition of community caroling takes place in the West Building Rotunda at 1:30 and 2:30 p.m. on December 9, 10, 16, and 17. Singing along is encouraged.

Harlem Symphony Orchestra
January 7 at 3:30
West Building, West Garden Court
Amadi Azikiwe, conductor
Created in 2004, the Harlem Symphony Orchestra's mission is to highlight the historic visibility and contributions of African American orchestral instrumentalists by performing symphony concerts to provide positive role models for youth of all ethnic origins. The orchestra's members are professional African Americans, all of whom are graduates of the nation's top conservatories and music schools, such as the Julliard School, New England Conservatory of Music, Manhattan School of Music, Eastman School of Music, and Indiana University. The program includes music by Jessie Montgomery, James Lee III, and Mozart.

Juho Pohjonen, piano
January 14 at 3:30
West Building, West Garden Court

This program explores Bach's legacy—how this masterly cornerstone of piano literature influenced composers from Viennese classicism through early and late romanticism. All of the works in the program finish with a brilliant fugue. Also included is a rarely played, baroque-inspired curiosity by Mozart.

Piffaro, The Renaissance Band
January 21 at 3:30
West Building, West Garden Court

Piffaro, The Renaissance Band delights audiences with highly polished recreations of the rustic music of the peasantry and the elegant sounds of the official wind bands of the late medieval and Renaissance periods. Its ever-expanding instrumentarium includes shawms, dulcians, sackbuts, recorders, krumhorns, bagpipes, lutes, guitars, harps, and a variety of percussion—all careful reconstructions of instruments from the period. On the final day of the exhibition Vermeer and the Masters of Genre Painting: Inspiration and Rivalry, January 18, the band will perform music Vermeer and his rivals may have been listening to as they painted.

Sybarite5
Outliers
January 28 at 3:30
West Building, West Garden Court

Presented in connection with the exhibition Outliers and American Vanguard Art

Outliers is a celebration of works written by the band's favorite composers mixed with music from the friends they've made while performing around the world. In Outliers, Sybarite5 performs the music of Andy Ahiko, Shawn Conley, Jessica Meyer, Marc Mellits, Daniel Bernard Roumain, Eric Byers, Piotr Szewczyk, and Dan Visconti, along with the group's favorite works by Piazzolla, Elgar, and Radiohead, and also Armenian folk music.

February

Daniel Bernard Roumain and Yayoi Ikawa
Redemption Songs and Sonatas
February 4 at 3:30
West Building, West Garden Court

Redemption Songs and Sonatas is rooted in a world-view of civil rights for all. Conceived and performed by Daniel Bernard Roumain (DBR) and Yayoi Ikawa, this intimate program features some of DBR's signature and most poignant works infused with the spirit of liberation and freedom. From Bob Marley's Redemption Song to the Haitian and Israeli national anthems, Redemption Songs and Sonatas is a composer's view of our desire to define ourselves, our world, and, sometimes, one another.

Curtis on Tour
A Celebration of Leonard Bernstein
February 11 at 3:30
West Building, West Garden Court

In 2018, Curtis on Tour celebrates the centenary of alumnus Leonard Bernstein with a program of American music, including works by Leonard Bernstein, Aaron Copland, and George Gershwin. Acclaimed Curtis alumni David Shifrin (clarinet) and Dominic Armstrong (tenor) join the Zorá String Quartet (quartet in residence) and student Jiacheng Xiong (piano) to perform a program as vibrant, bold, and diverse as America itself.

ETHEL

a postmodern, indie-classical quartet, pays special homage to women who are making their musical mark on the 21st century. Sometimes fierce, sometimes seductive, always full of creativity, composers such as Anna Clyne, Missy Mazzoli, and Pulitzer Prize-winner Julia Wolfe are—through their voices—warriors and champions of music today. Repertoire by these powerful and contemporary women—including the first performances of Julia Wolfe's bluegrass-inspired Blue Dress for String Quartet—is performed with music named by the composers as their personal sources of inspiration. Anna Clyne's favorites include rock legend Stevie Nicks, while Missy Mazzoli draws creative strength from Kim Gordon of Sonic Youth, one of the leaders of the worldwide wave of alt rock bands. Julia Wolfe cites the timelessness of Aretha Franklin, who continues in her role as standard-bearer for so many of today's musicians.

March

The Janoska Ensemble

March 11 at 3:30

West Building, West Garden Court

Recently signed to the prestigious Deutsche Grammophon label, this genre-bending Vienna-based ensemble comprises four brothers, each a soloist in his own right, two of whom are former members of The Vienna Philharmonic. Janoska infuses classical music with jazz, gypsy, tango, Latin, and a dash of pop and has appeared at many of the world's leading festivals and prestigious concert halls including New York's Carnegie Hall, Sydney's iconic Opera House, and Vienna's famed Musikverein, among numerous others.

The Canales Project

This I Choose...” is a new initiative by The Canales Project to celebrate and give voice to the stories of women that are helping other women worldwide and changing the world for the better. The project brings together artists in order to create songs, performances, and recordings that offer new, enduring, and powerful insights into the nature of women's leadership and the challenges women face worldwide. In partnership with Vital Voices, this initiative is also intended to create opportunities for emerging artists.

exactly how the manuscript ends

When Fretwork recorded Bach's Art of Fugue in 2002, we made no attempt to complete the final contrapunctus, preferring to end our recording exactly how the manuscript ends, the music trailing off in dramatic fashion. However, since then I have become increasingly dissatisfied with this approach and I have tried to find a more fitting conclusion to this great work. Reading more, it became clear that, despite C. P. E. Bach's assertion on that last page of his father's manuscript that his death interrupted the composition, in fact the work was written much earlier. This is the last work of the author, which contains all sorts of counterpoints and canons, on a single principal subject. His last illness prevented him from completing his project of bringing the next-to-last fugue to completion and working out the last one, which was to contain four themes and to have been afterward inverted note for note in all four voices. I have taken his suggestions and made one possible completion of the work." — Richard Boothby, director, Fretwork

INSCAPE Chamber Orchestra
April 22 at 3:30
West Building, West Garden Court

Founded in 2004 by artistic director Richard Sceibo, INSCAPE Chamber Orchestra is pushing the boundaries of classical music in riveting performances that reach across genres and generations and transcend the confines of the traditional classical concert experience. With its flexible roster and unique brand of programming, this critically acclaimed, Grammy-nominated group of high energy master musicians has quickly established itself as one of the premier performing ensembles in the Washington, DC, region and beyond. The program will include

Saint-Saëns's Carnival of the Animals with new verses by Mark Bamuthi Joseph and the chamber version of Mahler's Symphony no. 4.

The Westerlies
The Songs We Sung: American Vocal Music of the 20th Century
April 29 at 3:30
West Building, West Garden Court

The Westerlies is a New York based brass quartet composed of four childhood friends from Seattle: Riley Mulherkar and Zubin Hensler on trumpet, and Andy Clausen and Willem de Koch on trombone. Formed in 2011, the self-described "accidental brass quartet" takes its name from the prevailing winds from the west to the east. The group traces the sound of the 20th century through a variety of American vocal traditions. From the songs of Charles Ives to the spirituals of the Golden Gate Jubilee Quartet, The Westerlies reimagine the stylistic intricacies, physical techniques, diction, and textures of the American voice through the expressive palette of their own musical language. In celebration of International Jazz Day, April 29, 2018, The Westerlies premiere a quartet of pieces by the late Duke Ellington adapted for brass quartet by members of the ensemble. The new arrangement will be performed on Ellington's birthday in his hometown, Washington, DC.

Julia Bullock, soprano, and John Arida, piano
May 6 at 3:30
West Building, West Garden Court

Julia Bullock is recognized as an "impressive, fast-rising soprano ... poised for a significant career" (The New York Times). Equally at home with opera and concert repertoire, she has both captivated and inspired audiences through her versatile artistry, probing intellect, and commanding stage presence. Opera News extols, "Bullock's radiant soprano shines brightly and unfailingly ... most compellingly, however, she communicates intense, authentic feeling, as if she were singing right from her soul."

Ranky Tanky
May 13 at 3:30
West Building, West Garden Court, 3:30

Presented in connection with exhibition Outliers and American Vanguard Art

"Ranky Tanky" translates loosely as "work it," or "get funky" in the Gullah language. The word Gullah comes from West African language and means a people blessed by God. Ranky Tanky, the Charleston, South Carolina, quintet, performs timeless music of Gullah culture born in the southeastern Sea Island region of the United States. From playful game songs to ecstatic shouts, from heartbreaking spirituals to delicate lullabies, the musical roots of Charleston are "rank" and fertile ground for these contemporary artists. Quintin Baxter, Kevin Hamilton, Charlton Singleton, Clay Ross, and Quiana Parler, one of the low country's most celebrated vocalists, revive a "Heartland of American Music" born in their own backyards.

Christina and Michelle Naughton
May 20 at 3:30
West Building, West Garden Court

Christina and Michelle Naughton have been hailed by the San Francisco Examiner for their "stellar musicianship, technical mastery, and awe-inspiring artistry." The Naughtons made their European debut at Herkulessaal in Munich, where the süddeutsche zeitung proclaimed them "an outstanding piano duo." They made their Asian debut with the Hong Kong Philharmonic, where the Sing Tao Daily said of their performance: "Joining two hearts and four hands at two grand pianos, the Naughton sisters created an electrifying and moving musical performance." This concert will include Mozart's D Major Sonata K. 381 for four hands, Schubert's Rondo D 951 in A major for four hands, Bolcom's Recuerdos, Bach's Aus tiefer not schrei ich zu dir, Bach's Gottes zeit ist der allerbeiste Zeit, Debussy's En blanc et noir for two pianos, Chopin's Rondo in C Major for two pianos, and Lutoslawski's Variations on a Theme by Paganini for two pianos.
