

WASHINGTON, D. C.

AUGUST 30, 1942

SUNDAY EVENING SUMMER CONCERTS AT NATIONAL GALLERY

EXTENDED THROUGH SEPTEMBER

-----

When the National Gallery of Art was opened on Sunday evenings, beginning June 7th, Mr. Chester Dale of New York, generously provided for a series of thirteen summer concerts to be given in the East Garden Court by an orchestral ensemble from the National Symphony Orchestra and other organizations.

These concerts have been received with such enthusiastic approval that Mr. Dale has decided to extend the series through the month of September, so that there will be four additional concerts, the dates being September 6th, 13th, 20th, and 27th, when the series will end.

On Sunday evening, August 30, Francis Garzia will conduct. The program will be as follows:

PROGRAM

	"Star Spangled Banner"
March	"Coronation"	Kretschmer
	a) "On Wings of Song"	Mendelssohn
	b) "Fleurette"	Herbert
Last Movement	"Fifth Symphony"	Beethoven
	"Mardi Gras"	Grofe
	from Mississippi Suite
	"Polovetsian Dances"	Borodine
	from Prince Igor
INTERMISSION
Overture	"William Tell"	Rossini
Selection	H.M.S. Pinafore	Sullivan
Scherzo	"Midsummernight's Dream"	Mendelssohn
Valse	"The Rosenkavalier"	Strauss
Suite	"The Nutcracker"	Tschaikowsky
	"America"	