CONCERTS AT THE NATIONAL GALLERY OF ART

March and April 1992

MARCH

8 University of Wisconsin Concert Choir
Robert Fountain, Director

J.S. Bach: Jesu, meine Freude
Britten: Hymn to St. Cecilia
Messiaen: O sacrum convivium
Argento: In Praise of Apollo

15 Paul Galbraith, guitarist
(Honoring the exhibitions:
Guercino Drawings from Windsor Castle and Guercino:
Master of Baroque)

Laurencini: Fantasias
da Milano: Bicercare
Frescobaldi: Variations on "La Frescobalda"
Ponce: Las folias de Espana

22 The Vienna String Trio

Bach/Mozart: Adagio and Fugue
Von Einem: Trio, Opus 74
Beethoven: Serenade, Opus 8

29 Peter Vinograde, pianist

Music of J.S. Bach: Fifteen
Two-part Inventions, BWV 772-786
Goldberg Variations, BWV 988

APRIL

THE 49th AMERICAN MUSIC FESTIVAL
(Saturday, April 4 through Sunday, May 3)

4 BBC: Big Band, Barry Forgie, Conductor, with George Shearing, pianist, Angela Christian, vocalist and Neil Swinson, bassist

Jazz Concert: "Salute to the Age of Swing"

5 National Gallery Orchestra
George Manos, Conductor

Works Robert Ward, John LaMontaine,
Morton Gould, and Richard Bales

12 William Wolfram, pianist

Meyer Kupferman: Snow;
Twilight Sonata
Edward Applebaum: Arioso (1989)
Gershwin: Three Preludes

19 Pennsylvania Wind Quintet

Irving Fine: Partita (1946)
Persichetti: Pastoral, Opus 21
Ingolf Dahl: Allegro and Arioso (1942)
Steven Stucky: Serenade for Wind Quintet (1990)

26 Maryland Camerata
Samuel Gordon, Conductor

Morton Lauridsen: Italian Madrigals
Samuel Gordon: Songs from the Seventh Ring (Poems by S. Georg)
Vincent Persichetti: Flowers Songs

THE WILLIAM NELSON CROMWELL and F. LAMMOT BELIN CONCERTS

at the

National Gallery of Art

1991-1992 Season

Celebrating Fifty Years of Free Concerts in the Nation’s Capital

George Manos
Director of Music

Sunday Evenings at Seven O’clock
West Building, West Garden Court
2037th Concert
March 1, 1992
NATIONAL GALLERY ORCHESTRA
GEORGE MANOS, Conductor
BEVERLY BENSO, contralto, Guest Artist

PROGRAM

Emmanuel Chabrier ......................... Rhapsody: España
(1841-1894) (1883)

Manuel de Falla ............................ El amor brujo
(1876-1946) (1915)

- Introduction et scène
- Chanson du chagrin d'amour
- Le cercle magique
- Minuit – Les sorcellères
- Scène
- Chanson de feu follet
- Pantomime
- Danse du jeu d'amour
- Final

INTERMISSION
(Twelve minutes)

Georges Bizet ............................. Symphony in C Major
(1838-1875) (1855)

- Allegro vivo
- Adagio
- Minuetto: Allegro vivace
- Allegro vivace

This concert is presented in honor of the opening of the exhibition John Singer Sargent's El Jaleo.

Contralto BEVERLY BENSO has been a member of the National Gallery Vocal Arts Ensemble since its founding in 1985, and has been a frequent guest artist with the National Gallery Orchestra in performances of Edward Elgar's Sea Pictures and Mahler's Kindertotenlied, as well as Bach's Easter Oratorio and Mozart's Salve Regina. She is also regularly heard as soloist in concerts at the Kennedy Center, the National Cathedral, and the Library of Congress. Prior to her Carnegie Hall debut in 1990, Ms. Benso had already built an international reputation through performances in the 1989 Rheingau (Germany) Festival, the 1989 Salzburg Festival, the 1989 Spoleto Festival in Charleston, South Carolina, and the 1986 Mahler Festival in Canada. In 1985, she sang in Leipzig and Halle, Germany, in concerts celebrating the tricentennial of J. S. Bach. Ms. Benso is on the faculty of the Peabody Conservatory of the Johns Hopkins University and of the University of Maryland, Baltimore County.

As were so many French composers before and after him, Emmanuel Chabrier was infatuated with Spain. While visiting Granada in 1882, and perhaps already conceiving in his mind the music for his España Rhapsody, he wrote the following to a friend: "Every evening we go to the café concerts where the malagueñas, the soledadas, the zapateados, and the peteneras are sung. Then the dances, absolutely Arab, to speak the truth. If you could see them wiggle, unjoint their hips, contort, I believe you would not try to get away! At Malaga the dancing became so intense that I was compelled to take my wife away... ." Fortunately, Chabrier's modesty on his wife's behalf did not carry over into his composition. In España, he expresses with unreserved gusto the relentless energy of the Spanish dances, in particular the malagueña and the jota.

De Falla's el amor brujo was originally conceived as a ballet pantomime, with a libretto based on an Andalusian Gypsy tale. A young girl, Candelas, is tormented by the memory of a fascinating Gypsy who had been her lover. Believing that he has cast a spell on her, she is unable to respond to the advances of a gallant new suitor, Carmelo. Candelas is convinced that, if she loves another, the ghost of her former lover will return to haunt her. Carmelo induces Lucia, a Gypsy girl of irresistible charms, to woo the specter away from Candelas, which she does, and in the process drives the ghost to madness and eventually death. Now freed from her curse, Candelas is able to fall in love with Carmelo.

Just as the intense and erotic dances and stories of Spain inspired Chabrier and de Falla to write music, it was the Andalusian Gypsy culture that inspired John Singer Sargent's El Jaleo. It is difficult to identify with any precision which dance might be represented in Sargent's painting, but the presence of an ensemble of musicians on a raised platform suggests the cuadro flamenco, which had achieved widespread popularity as a form of entertainment in Spanish taverns by the nineteenth century. Jaleo refers to the shouts of encouragement that arise from the spectators as flamenco dance is performed.

Georges Bizet is a composer who had the dubious good fortune of being world-famous on account of just one of his works, the opera Carmen. He was actually a musician of broad range and varied output, and his Symphony in C Major shows him at his best in spontaneity and originality. It is modeled on the First Symphony of Charles Gounod, which Bizet had arranged as a study assignment. The lyrical oboe melody in the second movement presages the lovely passage for the same instrument in his later works, notably the L'Arlesienne Suite. The first two themes of the final movement show his flair for exotic turns of melody, which was to serve him so well in writing Carmen. Bizet was just seventeen years old when he wrote Symphony in C Major, and he did not see fit to promote a performance of it later in his life. It remained undiscovered among his manuscripts in the library of the Paris Conservatory until 1935, when it finally received its world premiere performance in Switzerland, under the direction of Felix von Weingartner.